VOLUME XXIV

COLUMBIA, KENTUCKY, TUESDAY MAY 31, 1921

NUMBER 32

A CARD.

Monticello, Ky., May 21st, 1921.
To The Republican Voters of Adair County:

I take this opportunity of responding to several letters, and petitions signed by quite a number of Adair county Republicans, asking that I become a candidate for the nomination for County Judge. I have delayed answering to secure the consent of my employer, where I have a good position. I am deeply grateful for all the kind and encouraging things contained in the communications. Always willing to do what I can to advance the interest of Adair county, and so many of my friends have indicated their wish that I undertake the duties of said office, I have decided to become a candidate for County Judge, subject to the action of the Republican voters at the coming August primary. If I am elected I promise to devote my time to the duties of the office, faithfully, and impartially rendering to all irrespective of politics, what I conscientiously believe to be their dues. I believe that valuable and lasting improvements which will benefit all the citizens, can be made if the fiscal affairs of the county are managed like the private affairs of successful business enterprises are managed, and these things can be done, and the tax rate reduced. The county is entitled to receive 100 per cent in value for every dollar expended. After the 1st of July, I expect to visit the voters, and explain my views on the management of Fiscal affairs. Until then I ask my friends to look after my interest.

Yours truly,
L. B. Hurt.

Delightful refreshments were served.

Death of John W. Blair.

One of the best citizens of the Southern part of this county died last Monday night—John W. Blair, whose home was about two miles above Glenville. He was a progressive farmer, a Christian gentleman, one who will be sadly missed from the neighborhood where he so long resided. He was a man who stood for law and order, and was outspoken in denouncing the unlawful acts of those who engaged in wickedness. His funeral was largely attended, and the deepest sympathy was manifested for the surviving members of the family. Several of this community were in attendance.

TO OUR SUPERINTENDENT.

We, the class of 1921, in publishing the Senior edition of the Jellico School Eagle, dedicate this issue to our beloved Superintendent, T. A. Judd. Born and reared in the Blue Grass State, we can say that in him the Old State upholds its reputation for the production of thorough-breds. He is proud of the fact that he graduated from Georgetown College and with all of his loyalty spreads the fame of that grand old institution of learning.

Before coming to Jellico he was affiliated with some of the best schools of this State. He also taught two years in Louisiana, where, to the sorrow of Tennessee girls, he met "Isabelle." After being discharged from the army December, 1918 Professor Judd came to Jellico. Through many vicissitudes and changes he alone has remained with us. We regret that he is leaving us next year and we realize that the profession is losing one of its strongest men.

It would be impossible to give any detailed account of his work and achievements in this volume. The most that we can say is that we appreciate to the fullest extent his conscientious effort, his true interest and his Christian example. We wish him joy in his new home and his new work, and we pray that there may ever be satisfaction in thought that in the "Gem City of the Mountains" he has sown seed that shall grow as the grain of mustard seed.

Prof. and Mrs. Judd leave Jellico Saturday for Mangham, La., where they will make their home. Prof. Judd has served Jellico well. He is a clean, Christian gentleman and the entire town regrets to see him go.—The Jellico Carry-on, Jellico, Tenn.

Lightning Strikes Barn.

Last Thursday morning about 4 o'clock, while a rain storm was raging, the large stock barn of Mr. Sam Burdette, on Greensburg street, was struck by lightning, tearing a considerable hole in the roof, setting the building on fire. The people of town were generally asleep, but Mr. J. F. Montgomery, whose residence is about three hundred yards from the barn, observed a light, and discovered that the building was on fire. He gave the alarm and in a short time the fire bell rang, which awakened the town and very quickly many were at the scene. The fire was soon extinguished, and but little damage done. There was no stock in the barn.

The Ball Games.

Two very interesting baseball games were played on the Lindsey-Wilson hill last week, Tuesday and Thursday afternoons.

The first contest was Lebanon against Columbia, all the players being in trim, but the Lebanon boys got rattled as the game progressed and when it ended the home team had 15 scores to its credit and Lebanon 5. Will Young pitched this game with the exception of the first two innings. He was in fine trim and he fanned out the opponents as fast as they came to the bat. The catching of Alvin Lewis and batting and field playing by the entire home team were all that manager Taylor could ask.

On Thursday afternoon the home team went up against the "crack" nine of St. Marys. This game drew an immense crowd, and at 3 o'clock the batting started. St. Marys took the lead, and up to the seventh inning she had 5 scores to her credit and Columbia 2. The remainder of the game was of special interest, as the home team held down the visitors, and when the contest closed the score stood, St. Marys 5; Columbia 4. Simon Finn pitched this game and Lewis caught. There was no change made in the fielders.

The St. Marys team is game, made up of splendid young men, who made inviolable reputations here.

There were many old ball players present, and they say that it was the most interesting game ever played on the Lindsey-Wilson hill.

Mr. N. B. Kelsey, of this place, was forty years old last Sunday, and the event was duly celebrated by a bountiful dinner being spread. The following families were represented: Mrs. Margaret Hurt, Mr. S. L. Sandusky and family, Mrs. Ella Wikerson and family, Mrs. J. W. Marshall and family, Dr. and Mrs. S. P. Miller and children, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sandusky and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sandusky, and children, J. P. Kelsey and daughter, C. M. T. G. Rasner & Son

Married in Iowa.

Mr. Sam L. Jeffries, son of Mrs. Omeria Jeffries, of this place, who has been making his home in Iowa for sometime, gave his heart to Miss Marie Marks, of West Branch, that State and the first of last week Miss Marks became Mrs. Jeffries. Soon after the ceremony the couple left for this place, arriving Friday night, and for the next several weeks they will be with relatives in the city and county. The groom is an industrious young man and has many friends here, where he was born and reared. The bride is quite an attractive young woman.

The cases against Albert Lamb and Venus Royse, charged with selling whisky, were called Monday morning. The defendants were present and both waived an examination. The grand jury will take up the cases at the July term of circuit court.

The civil officers are after the bootleggers. Robt. Bohannon was arrested Monday morning, Venus Royse Saturday night. The trial of a man named Lamb, who lives in Taylor county, was set for yesterday.

Big Time at Cane Valley.

Tampico Lodge, Free and Accepted Masons, located at Cane Valley, is making preparations to do itself proud on June 24th—St. John's Day. The lodge is arranging for an old time picnic, and we understand that all the lodges in the county will be invited to attend.

Speakers from a distance have been invited, and Grand Secretary Jackson and Post Grand Master Jas. Garnett having accepted. Doubtless others will be present. If weather conditions are favorable it will certainly be a day of rejoicing.

It has been a long time since St. John's Day was celebrated in Adair county, and there is not a doubt but there will be more Masons in Cane Valley on that day than ever before on any one day.

The local lodge has arranged for a brass band, and there is not a doubt but the generous people of Adair county—the wives and daughters of the Masons—will do the rest.

Townsmen Appointed.

Mr. A. D. Patteson, of this place, has been appointed a deputy revenue collector in this the Fifth District, and for the present his headquarters will be Louisville, for which city he leaves to day. He takes the place of Mr. J. R. Sanders, of Campbellsville, who has filled the position for the last six years. Mr. Patteson's work will cover seven or eight counties, and he will frequently be at home. He is a very capable gentleman, one who does his work well, and his numerous friends are glad that he has been selected for the position. It pays $2,200 per year and expenses.

Gass Given.

I am now prepared to give gass for the painless extraction of teeth.

H. W. Depp, Dentist.

Young Couple Wed.

Last Monday morning Mr. Herbert Howell, of Louisville, and Miss Alice Jackman, daughter of Mrs. Laura Jackman, this place, were married at the home of Eld. Z. T. Williams, who performed the ceremony. The groom is 18 and the bride 17. Both had certificates from their parents authorizing the issuing of the licenses.

The couple left at 10 a. m. for Louisville where they will reside.

The courtship started while the girl was in school at Louisville.

The couple have the best wishes of this community.

Meet the First Monday in June.

All the Democratic Committeemen, men and women, who were elected on Saturday the 7th of May, are requested to be in Columbia County Court day in June, the first Monday. On this day a complete organization will be perfected.

Goodby, Ted.

Sometime during last Tuesday night Ted Morrison, who has been in jail, off and on, for several months, on a whisky charge, made his escape. He dug a hole in the wall under the window fronting the back of the Jeffries Hotel. He left no word as to when he would return. There were several other prisoners in jail, but they were locked in a cage. Something needs to be done to make the bastille secure, and the matter should be called to the attention of the Fiscal Court when it again convenes. This is the second time Morrison has escaped.

Judd Bros., of Cane Valley, have contracted to build four nice residences at Monticello. They left with a crew of hands for that point last Thursday. They carried a tent, cooking utensils, beds and bedding. They will camp while over there, doing their own cooking. They will be absent about ten weeks.

Married in Louisville.

The following announcement was received by a number of Columbia friends last Monday morning:

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Downs announce the marriage of the daughter Nancy Dameron Starks to

Mr. Count Stults on Saturday the twenty-eight of May nineteen hundred and twenty-one Louisville Kentucky.

At home after September first Louisville Kentucky.

The bride was partly reared at Cane Valley, this county, and was quite popular with the younger set. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Stults, this place, and is well acquainted over the county, and is quite popular. Both Mr. and Mrs. Stults have the best wishes of their Adair county friends.

Uncle Green McKinley.

Last Tuesday after our forms were ready for the press, the news of the death of "Uncle" Green McKinley reached us. He was in his 97th year. The end came at the home of a daughter, who lives near Glenville. Mr. McKinley was the father of Mr. Solomon McKinley, and he retained his mental faculties up to a day or two before his death. He had been a good citizen all during his long life. In conversing he was entertaining in talking of the past. His funeral was largely attended.

Died Near Cool Spring.

Last Wednesday, near Cool Spring, in the Gradyville country, Miss Stella Keltner, 22 years old, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claud Keltner, peacefully met her God. She was a very efficient teacher and popular in the neighborhood where she was born and reared. Her funeral was largely attended.

County Clerks are entitled to 5 per cent for collecting motor vehicle licenses, besides the 30 cents compensation for issuing the license. Circuit Judge R. L. Stout held in an opinion rendered at Frankfort. The tax commission contended that the 30 cents each license is required to pay the clerk is in lieu of all other remuneration, but the Judge took the position that the general statute allowing the clerks 5 cent on all moneys collected for the State holds good in this case. Attorney General Charles I. Dawson will take the case to the Court of Appeals.

Mr. J. A. Mitchell, of Ote, Green county, writes us that Mrs. C. A. Bailey, of Sterling, Kansas, has arrived at his home. She has been engaged in teaching in High School, and will spend her vacation in Kentucky. When the war came, her Crawford history was ready for publication and contracts made. The delay was unavoidable. She hopes now to meet many of the descendants of this ancient and honorable family in Adair and adjoining counties and add to the completion of the work. To visit Kentucky has been the desire of her life.

A statement from Judge Hal. Graham, Green county, shows that every dollar of the railroad debt that was on that county has been paid. This debt had been hanging over the county for nearly fifty years, and during all that time the county was handicapped. The burden being lifted, the people of said county should prosper.

Prof. W. M. Wilson, who made an inviolable reputation here as a teacher, and who has been in charge of the public schools, Pottsville, N. M., for several years, resigned some weeks ago and will become the principal of the Graded and High School, Cattlettsburg, Ky. The Board at the last named place made a hit in securing his services. Prof. Wilson and family will be in Columbia before going to Cattlettsburg.

Decoration services were held at Mt. Carmel last Sunday and hundreds of people were present. Addresses were made by Mr. W. A. Coffey and Rev. O. T. Lee and perhaps others. There was an abundance of dinner. The addresses were pathetic in nature but were duly appreciated by those whose dead sleep in the cemetery.

The drive for the $3,200 for educational purposes in the Southern Methodist Church, is on this week in Columbia. The amount to be raised in Southern Methodism is $33,000,000. The quota for the Columbia Church is $3,200, and it will be subscribed. The Lindsey-Wilson school will receive $70,000 of the $33,000,000.

A branch of the State Normal will commence here the 6th of June. The Superintendent is of the opinion that it will open at the Lindsey-Wilson. The teachers will be announced later. Every person in the county who contemplates teaching should attend this school. The session will last five weeks.

The sheriff and his deputies are now serving papers for the coming circuit court which will convene the first Monday in July. Driscoll, charged with being one of the men who attempted to rob the Bank of Columbia, will be brought from Louisville jail and tried at the coming term.

Mr. Elsie Young, who does not play, takes a great interest in the national game, and when a contest is on here, he is invariably the most enthusiastic spectator on the grounds. In fact, when one of our boys makes a fine play it does Elsie more good than any man in the game.

To appreciate the sermon delivered by Rev. Hart at the Presbyterian church, Sunday night, it will have to be heard. His subject was "What follows the Baptism Fire." We will not undertake to quote him, but will state that it was a very learned discourse.

The many who attended the game of baseball, St. Marys against Columbia, played on the Lindsey-Wilson grounds, last Thursday afternoon, say that it was the most interesting game even pulled off on the hill.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hansford, who live in Ohio, lost a sixteen months old child last week. The child got badly burned with boiling water. Mrs. Hansford, before her marriage, was Miss Callie Feese, this place.

We learn from farmers that the prospect for a bountiful crop were never better in Adair county. Of course they could yet be damaged, but with reasonable weather, we apprehend that an abundance will be raised.

Miss Nancy Royse, the accomplished daughter of Mr. Sam Royse, who is attending school at Nashville, Tenn., was awarded first prize in "sewing" over a large number of competitors, last week.

But little can be gathered from the voters out in the county as to the strength of candidates. Ask, and you will get an answer like this: "Well, I do not know. They will all get some votes."

Man.

Man that is born of woman is small potatoes and few in a hill.

He riseth up to-day and flourishes like a rag weed, and to-morrow or the next day after, the undertaker has him in the ice box.

He goeth forth in the morning warbling like a lark, and is knocked out in one round and two seconds.

In the midst of life he is in debt and the tax collector pursueth him wherever he goeth.

The banister of life is full of splinters and he slideth down it with considerable rapidity.

He walketh forth in the bright sunlight to a herb zone, and meeteth a bark toiler with a sight draft for $24.75.

He cometh home at eventide and meeteth the wheelbarrow in his path, and the wheelbarrow riseth up and smiteth him to the earth, and felleth him.

In the gentle spring-time he putteth on his summer clothes, and a blizzard striketh him far away from home, and felleth him with woe and lamentation.

He larcth up riches to the bank, and the president succulatheth in margins and he cometh to Canada for his wealth.

In autumn he putteth on his winter trousers and a wasp that abideth in them filled him with intense excitement.

He sitteth up all night to get the returns from Ohio and in the end learneth that the other fellows have carried it.

He buyeth a watch dog, and when he comes home late from the lodge the watch dog treeth him, and sits beneath him until rosy morn.

He goeth to the horse trot and betteth on the brown mare, and the bay gelding with the blaze-face winneth.

He marrieth a red-headed heiress with a wart on her nose, and the next day her paternal ancestor goeth under with few assets to live with his beloved son-in-law.

Removing Dirt From Walls.

Ordinary plastered and papered walls and ceilings should be cleaned with a wall brush or a broom covered with soft cloth, such as cotton flannel. Light overlapping strokes should be used; heavy strokes rub the dirt in. Cotton batting is good for cleaning places that soil more quickly than the rest—for example, the wall over radiators, registers and stoves. The wall should be rubbed lightly with the cotton, which should be turned as it becomes soiled.

There are commercial pastes and powders for cleaning wall papers, but, in general, these should be applied only by an expert. An amateur is likely to have a streaked wall if he attempts to use them.

The so-called washable papers used in kitchens and bathrooms may be cleaned with a dampened cloth, but water must be used sparingly; if it seeps in, the paper will be loosened. Varnishing the paper in these rooms will make it more nearly impervious to moisture and steam and will prevent it from peeling. Household specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture say.

HANDLE NEW CAR WITH MUCH CARE

After First Trip Go Over Nuts and Bolts and Make Sure They Are All Tight.

MAKE FREQUENT INSPECTIONS

Driver Should Scrutinize Lubrication Chart and Familiarize Himself With Location of Every Grease Cup and Oil Hole.

It is of prime importance to handle the new car carefully. After the first trip take a wrench and go over every nut and bolt to make certain they are all tight. The engine parts should receive special attention, for the slightest defect will result in misfiring and poor combustion, writes William H. Stewart in New York Times. Make your inspections frequently for the first 1000 miles until the car has been in somewhat, then you can relax your vigilance a bit.

Make a thorough study of your inspection book. Look at the lubrication chart and familiarize yourself with the location of every grease cup and oil hole, then see that they are all filled properly. This will insure you against worn parts or scored bearings and, incidentally, allow you to learn the location of the system if trouble.

New Car Is Stiff.

When an automobile is built the engine has a run-in but little and every part is tight and rigid. Then, after the first run-in, the engine is stiff and the car is very stiff and will not start much speed until those parts are run in. So don't expect to get 15 miles an hour until the speedometer shows 1000 miles. By so doing each part and "find weak" and you will be perfectly safe in exceeding thirty miles per hour. If you force a car before it has obtained the 1000 miles it will result in a noisy engine and necessitate repairs.

Drain the oil every 500 miles and replace it with fresh. The quantity of gas and oil that comes from the crankcase is usually surprising.

The bearings and pistons throw off small particles of metal which if not removed with the old oil will work into the bearings and cause trouble. Perhaps the motor will show a tendency to overheat when new. Don't let this worry you for it is merely the friction caused in wearing off the rough surface of the engine. Drive intelligently and use plenty of oil and water and soon this trouble will disappear.

Clean Body Carefully.

The body cleaning should be done very carefully for the first month or so. Use a simple flow of water, without spray or force, otherwise the finish will be marred. The longer you drive without unnecessary cleaning, the harder the varnish will become.

Do not allow the engine to race or to run when the car is standing. Self-starters are made to be used and it is good for the battery to be operated intelligently.

Keep the tires fully inflated—soft tires consume power as well as destroy themselves.

Keep the carburetor adjusted at the leanest possible mixture—a lean mixture reduces carbon deposits.

Don't try to economize by purchasing the "just as good" oil. Buy the best grade and change the supply about every 500 miles. This will be most economical in the long run.

If you follow the car driven by an expert you will notice that he maintains a constant speed; that he does not loaf along and then suddenly jump to forty miles an hour. More gasoline is used when you accelerate. Select a safe driving speed, making only gradual speed changes when it is necessary.

Advertising Pays.

In picking up a certain magazine last week we noted that advertising pages contained $6,000 ad for the lowly shoe string, another of the same size for a 15 cent can of smoking tobacco, another of higher price for the stuff that makes raisin pies—and mash, too; another even higher in price for a bar of soap and others for almost everything from invisible dress fasteners up through the hosiery line to face lotions—and still there are very few who say it does not pay to advertise. If a manufacturer can carry a series of advertisements costing hundreds of thousands of dollars a year to advertise a certain brand of shoe string or other nickel articles, what does advertising mean to the retailer? The word "advertising" is the distinguishing mark between the "store-keeper" and the merchant.—Standard Waukon, Iowa.

GOOD BRAKES OF BIG IMPORTANCE

They Are One of Most Excellent Forms of Guarding Against All Kinds of Accidents.

METHOD OF CURBING ENGINE

Emergency or Hand Brake Primarily Is to Hold Car When Standing and Secondarily to Use if Other Brake Gives Way.

By H. CLIFFORD BROKAW, Technical Director West Side Y. M. C. A. Automobile Schools, New York City.

Better have good brakes on your car than an engine, if you have to choose between the two, for the brakes are the best form of accident insurance you can have. This indicates the relative importance of the two car features. You might have the highest type of engine with unlimited power under the hood, but if you haven't also some means of curbing your high stepper and retarding it at will you are in for it. "When" won't stop it either. You might better be driving an untamed broncho of the plains. The engine will get you there, it is true, but if there be no means of stopping you may go too fast.

The car has two sets of brakes—emphasizing the importance—and occasionally a car has more. The emergency or hand brake consists of a brake hand operating within a drum on each rear wheel connected by rods and levers to the hand lever, which is a part of the car and so that it may be locked in position. This brake primarily is to hold the car when standing and secondarily to use in an emergency if the other brake gives way or for alternating on long hills.

Operation of Foot Brake.

The foot brake, called running or service brake, is operated by a pedal. With a spring to release it when pressure on the pedal is removed, and is connected by other rods and levers to brake bands operating on the outside of the rear wheel drums, or occasionally upon a separate drum on the propeller shaft. The latter gives greater braking power, because of the rear axle leaning forward, back of the brake, and the second drum helps prevent overheating on long hills. But this type brake does put a severe strain on the rear axle gears.

Both brakes should be kept in such condition that either will stop the car quickly. Do not let one set remain out of order just because you know the other is all right. The other might go bad just when needed.

Brake bands are lined with non-burning friction material, usually an asbestos fabric, fastened to the steel bands by copper rivets, the heads of which are counter-sunk deep into the lining, to keep the heads from contact with the drum. If the lining is allowed to wear thin the copper rivet heads score the drum into shallow grooves, lessening the braking power. Such must be turned true on a lathe if they are to be worth much for braking purposes.

Renew Brake Lining.

Equally important is the renewal of the brake lining before it is worn thin enough to expose the rivets to friction. Better have this done at the service station. It is a particular and tedious job. It is possible, however, to get the right size linings and proper rivets at almost any supply house. Remove the brake bands, punch out the old rivets, noticing how they were put in, and go to it. Remember that the rivet heads must be countersunk deep into the lining and every rivet set up tight. It requires patience but can be done by the novice.

The brake lining is one place where lubrication is not desirable, but every other place on the brake and linkage where there is motion should be lubricated regularly according to the manufacturer's lubrication chart, and be cleaned likewise. There is considerable wear to the clevises and pins; they may be renewed for a few cents and should not be allowed to wear to the danger point; besides, worn linkage rattles.

Do not clutch the wheel with a vise-like grip. It is not strength which guides the car, but sureness of hand.

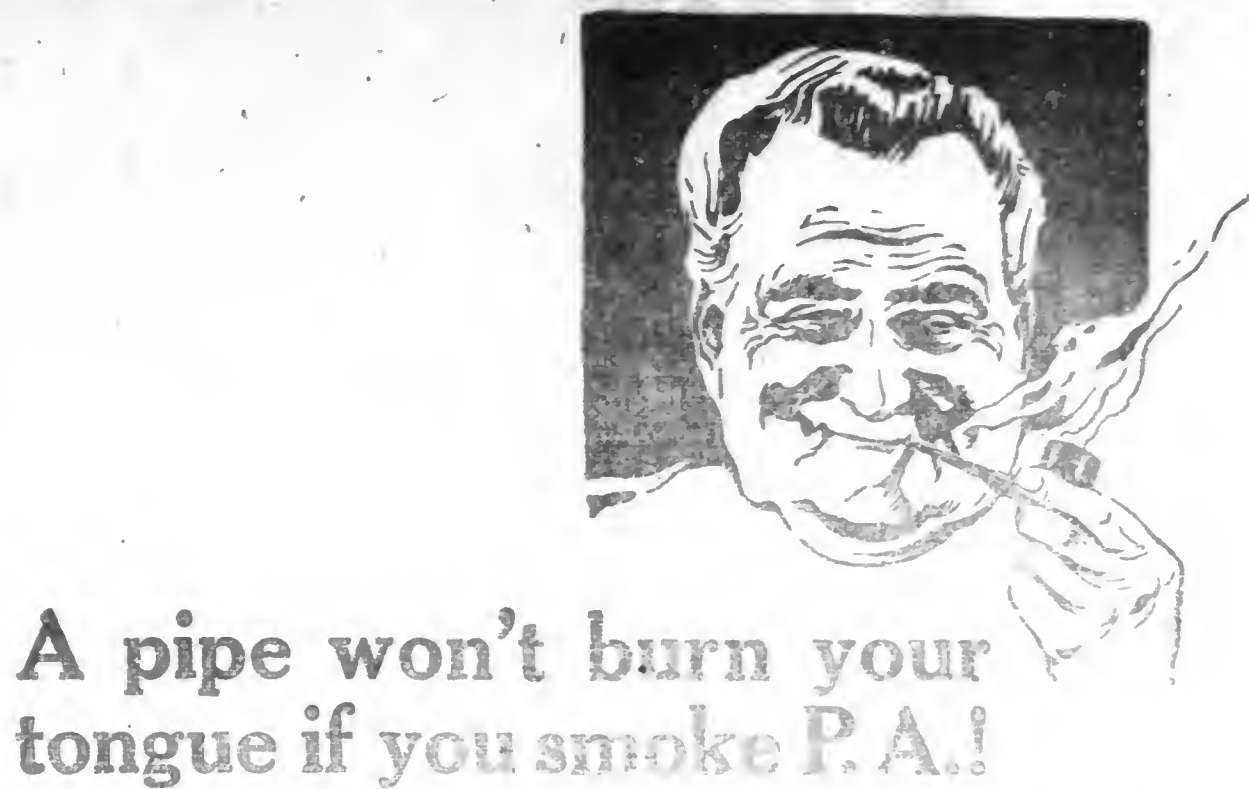

Colorado, with a registration of 128,951 motor vehicles, averaged a consumption of 339 gallons of gasoline per car last year.

Saskatchewan, with a total of 60,352 automobiles and 424 motorcycles, now stands second in Canada, in regard to the number of registered motor vehicles.

While the Automobile Club of Rochester, N. Y., is one of the largest motor clubs in the country, plans of a membership campaign are under way to boost the roll to 10,000 members.

Because of perfect year-round conditions, motor vehicles in Florida consumed on an average of 942.7 gallons of gasoline last year. The average consumption in the United States is 450 gallons.

When the Democratic Party Will Be Dead

Gradyville, Ky.

Editor News:—

This is a little poem that has been published broadly since our defeat last fall and for the benefit of those who think the Democrat party is dead, we want to say that the party has been defeated before, many times and often yet, it has survived a half dozen other parties.

From the day of the great Jefferson through thick and thin in defeat and victory, the Democrat party has never thrown out the flag of truce to any political organization. Then for a fact, friends, the following things will have to happen before Democracy will be dead:

When the terrapin knit woolen socks

And the hare is outrun by the snail;

When elephants walk upright like men

And doodle bugs travel like frogs;

When the grasshopper feeds on the hen,

And feathers are found on the hog.

When thomas cat swim in the air,

And elephants roost upon trees,

When insects in summer are rare,

And snuff never make people sneeze;

When fish creep over dry land,

And mules on velocipedes ride;

When the foxes lay in the land,

And women in dress take no pride.

When dutchman no longer beer drink,

And girls get to preaching on time;

When billy goats butt from the rear,

And treason is no longer a crime

When the humming birds brays like a mule;

It's worth protecting

Diplomatic relations between France and the Vatican have been resumed after an interim of seventeen years.

When Senator Overman claimed that North Carolina raised more tobacco than any State in the Union, Senator Stanley very promptly showed him he did not know what he was talking about, as Ky. raised 500,000,000 lbs out 1,200,000,000, or nearly half what is raised in the United States. You can always trust a Kentuckian to stand up for Kentucky.

After all, what is this life but a parable of talents and opportunities. Anyone can have whatever he wishes or be whatever he desires, if he will pay the price for it. The price is the sole condition. Nature is not tricked. We pay the full price for what we get. And we receive what we pay for.

The first carload shipment of strawberries from Bowling Green was made Saturday.

A Difference in Senators.

The difference between a dishonest partisan and an honest patriot was shown in the Senate last Friday during the course of the debate on the Naval Appropriation bill, which carries a half-billion dollars.

Senator Borah, leader of the disarmament advocates in the Senate, was attacking the extravagance of the measure, when Senator Curtis, of Kansas, Republican whip, interjected the remark that all the appropriation bills now being passed were based upon estimates of former Democratic cabinet officers, and that next year's budget, based upon estimates from Republican officials, would show a decrease of a billion dollars.

Senator Borah replied that current appropriation bills, although estimated by Democratic officials, were passed by a Republican Congress, and that the Republican party could not escape responsibility for them.

It only requires a modicum of common sense and common honesty to reach the conclusion which Senator Borah gave, but how must the mind of a man like Curtis work? Here is a Republican President, and a Congress, Republican in both branches, all definitely pledged to reduce expenditures in Government; all aghast at the "profligate waste" etc., etc., of the Wilson administration, and yet forsooth because these same wicked Democratic officials made some tentative estimates upon the cost of Government for another year, a Republican Congress must suddenly follow them, plunge the country deeper in debt, and then blame the Democrats, Baker, Daniels and all the rest of the spendthrift crew. That is logic from Kansas, and from one of the oracles on the Republican side of the Senate!—E-Town News.

Toast To Mother

The following toast to "Mother" was read by Hugh J. Childers at the Methodist church on Mothers Day at the Sunday School hour:

"If I speak with the spirit of a true son and of my mother and do not speak of her in love, I am become as sounding brass or clanging cymbal, and if I have all ability and all knowledge and if I have money enough to buy mansions and have not love for my mother, I am nothing. And if I bestow all my goods to feed the poor and if I give my body to be burned and do not love my mother, it profiteth me nothing. Mother suffered long and is kind. Mother envieth not. Mother vaunteth not herself. Mother is not puffed up. Mother does not behave herself unseemly; seeketh not her own; she is not easily provoked, taketh no account of evil, rejoiceth not in unrighteousness, but rejoiceth with the truth. Mother beareth all things, endureth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things. Mother never faileth; where there be misunderstandings, they shall be done away; where there shall be unjust criticism that shall cease; where there even be wrong done that shall be forgiven. For we know only in part and judge in part, but with perfect love which is to come, then all differences shall be done away. When I was a child I spoke as a child, I acted as a child, I thought as a child. Now that I am an older boy, I will put away childish things, for when I look face to face at my mother's love, I know that it is the love of My Mother. And choosing now between my friends, my business and my mother's love, I am sure that the greatest of these is my Mother's Love."—Ex.

Repudiate Beer.

Beer was repudiated as a medicine by two members of the medical profession testifying in the hearing before House Judiciary Committee on Chairman Volstead's bill to stop leaks in the law. Not only did the doctors assert that they never had prescribed beer, but both said that in long practices neither ever had seen it used in that way.

The physicians, Dr. Howard H. Kelly, a surgeon of John Hopkins Hospital, and Dr. James M. H. Rowland, professor at the University of Maryland, declared they knew of no diseases for which beer was a curative. Both expressed "humiliation" that the question had been "put up" to the medical profession, as was done by several previous witnesses.

Representative Chandler, Republican, of New York, asked whether beer was not responsible for the "magnificent stature" and long life of the German people, who drink beer all of their lives.

"I do not know anything the longevity of the race," Dr. Rowland said. "I am an obstetrician and I work at the front end of life. I do know that beer or any fluid containing alcohol is bad for babies."

Dr. Kelly was asked whether beer created an appetite for food.

"It would ruin any appetite," he said. "Of course persons with capacious stomachs can take vast quantities of beer with their food and they seem to enjoy it, but I never believed it caused a healthy appetite for anybody."

When a young couple start out in life together and they do really love each other sincerely, there is one other thing next to good health that is needed to make a continuous happy life, and that is good financing. Without this quality love will soon fade away and disagreement follow. What causes so many divorce suits? Bad financing. Some of our best and brightest citizens are among our poorest managers and consequently have difficulties to battle with during life. Therefore, good management and saving qualities, together with good character, are essential points to be observed by young men and women, equally well by husband and wife, in order to maintain prosperity and contentment.

The best thing that can happen to a young man is for him to realize, at the very outset of his career, that whatever real success he is to achieve must come from his own exertions. Whenever a young man begins life by depending on the favor or indulgence of friends or upon an inheritance of money that some one else has earned, he might as well make up his mind that failure is to be graven upon the headstone that marks his life-career.

Cabinet Head Coming.

Presence of Henry C. Wallace, United States Secretary of Agriculture, at the Bourbon Stock Yards Fat and Feeding Cattle Show and Sale, September 15th and 16th is expected by members of the Louisville Livestock Exchange, W. S. Bell, president of the Exchange, announced yesterday. A letter received by Mr. Bell indicated Mr. Wallace's intention of coming. The presence of Mr. Wallace at the fat and feeding cattle show and sale in September will give him double opportunity of meeting the farmers of Kentucky of whom thousands will be present to attend the show and the Kentucky State Fair which will be held the same week. Mr. Wallace stands high in the regard of every farmer familiar with his record. His coming should be a great event, as he will bring with him the authority of his position and the message of support to the agricultural industry of the state from from his highly efficient department, which is so badly needed at this time. Mr. Wallace will be able to explain to the farmers how thoroughly and practically the United States Department of Agriculture is standing behind them and how willing it is to help solve their problems. Arrangements for the entertainment of visiting farmers on the night of the cattle show, following the events at the stock yards are being perfected by the Exchange. It is intended to take the farmers to the State Fair that evening and entertain them in a body. Sections of the livestock pavilion will be reserved for the occasion if possible.

It isn't the amount of religion a man has that makes him good and fits him for heaven; it is the amount he uses. Long prayers and loud professions do not count; but the man who loves his fellowmen and fellowwomen, who ministers to the afflicted and wears a smile for all, including his wife and children, who never kicks the dog when he ought to kick himself, who speaks well of people when their backs are turned, and under all circumstances keeps an even mind—that man doesn't have to die to go to heaven. He gets to feeling happy all time as a matter of habit, and he takes all the dispensations of life with philosophical satisfaction.

The act disfranchising a person for carrying a pistol has been decided by the Court of Appeals, Chief Justice Rollin Hurt, rendering the opinion and concurred in by the entire Court, to be unconstitutional.

The largest burden the Republican party now has is one George Harvey, who a few weeks ago was named as the Ambassador to England by President Harding. His speech at Court of St. James, classes him as an enemy to the best interest of the United States. It also calls to mind that Woodrow Wilson turned down Mr. Harvey after his first nomination when Harvey offered his support. Wilson did not want his friendship nor that of his publication. When Harvey undertakes to show his venom against the former Democratic President, he is talking about a man whose shoes he is unworthy to unlatch.

George Harvey, Mr. Harding's Ambassador to England, has done what a great majority of the thinking men of the United States believed he would do—put his foot in it. His first speech is being severely criticized by both Republicans and Democrats, and already there is a move on foot to have him recalled. Harvey hates Mr. Wilson because the latter, while making his first canvass for the Presidency, snubbed him. His appointment was a great mistake, and we believe that the present administration would be the gainer if Mr. Harvey was notified to return to the United States; that a back seat awaited him.

In our announcement columns can be found the name of Lucian B. Hurt, who is a candidate for County Judge of Adair county, subject to the action of the Republican party. Mr. Hurt is one of the best known men in the county, and he will begin his canvass the first of July. He has served this county, many years ago, as County Clerk, making a splendid officer. He has also been the Master Commissioner of the Adair Circuit court. His fidelity to the Republican party can not be called in question, as he has been active in all the canvasses since he was a voter. He wants his Adair county friends to become active, promising that should he be nominated and elected to make a faithful officer. He publishes a card elsewhere in this issue of the News, and later he will personally present his claims. He is a good mixer, and doubtless his friends will be glad to see him moving over the county.

MORE TAXES.

At a meeting held in Lexington a few days ago, and in the presence of Gov. Morrow, Raney T. Wells, one of the new members of the State Tax Commission, said:

"Your State has got to have more money. Your taxes are not going to be lowered. They must be raised. And let me tell you here and now that the people of the State, in my opinion don't care how much taxes they've got to pay, if you produce. Start out today and fight."

Since Mr. Wells is an appointee of Gov. Morrow and is a member of the board in charge of the valuation of all the property in Kentucky, it begins to look like the people of Kentucky will be required in the future to go down into their jeans deeper than they have ever gone. Will the already heavy burdened taxpayers submit to an additional burden is a question to be answered by each taxpayer independent of politics.

The Knights Templar, of this place, and a number of Royal Arch Masons would be pleased if a commandry was organized in Campbellsville. Those here who have taken the degrees belong at Lebanon, but that Commandry is too far from Columbia for the members to attend. Quite a number of Royal Arch Masons, who reside in this place, would be glad to become Knights Templar if a Commandry was nearer. Campbellsville has a Masonic hall built with the view of organizing a Commandry, and the Masons of Columbia, who are eligible to take the higher degrees, would be glad if our neighboring town would secure a dispensation and start the work. A charter could be secured at the next meeting of the Grand Commandry. Of course it would cost a considerable sum for the outfit, but the field from which the Commandry would draw, would soon pile up a good large bank account. A Commandry at Campbellsville would certainly be well patronized by petitions from Adair and Green counties, and doubtless many Masons in Taylor county would knock for admission. We would be glad to see an article in The News Journal on this subject.

SENATOR STANLEY SPEAKS

The Senate had under consideration the Knox Joint resolution providing a separate peace with Germany. Senator Stanley spoke in part, as follows:

Mr. President, were I seeking a simple partisan advantage rather than the good of my country I should rejoice at this hour. There is no doubt, no question of doubt, that the great majority of the American people, that the heart of the world, hungrily longs for some concert among the powerful nations of the establishment of peace and the abolition of war. There is no doubt and no question of doubt, the great majority of the American people agreed with the Senator from Massachusetts [Mr. LODGE] when he declared that a slacker peace, that a separate peace, that an understanding by this Nation with Germany independent of and disregarding of the rights of our allies, would be thing of infamy.

To-day, at this hour, we can make a peace with Germany as a victor. Pass this joint resolution and you tie your hands, you gag your mouths, you throw away ruthlessly, blindly, madly, all that a hundred thousand dead have gained, that 200,000 maimed have won, that 2,000,000 across the seas have fought to gain. You have no rights that a neutral would not have. You have no rights that you would not have had had you never spent a dollar and never sacrificed the life of a hero.

This scene, this act, is tragic. It is pathetic. You are drunk with power, gentlemen, upon the other side. Whom the gods wish to destroy they first make mad; and this act of separate peace with Germany is political madness. You recant all that your leaders, with a few exceptions, have said. You turn your backs upon the solemn pledges of your own candidate. You destroy the proud position earned by the blood and sacrifice of heroes and you place yourselves upon the level of conquered Germany. When you are ready to ask a peace, it will not be as a conqueror but as an equal with the conquered.

As a Democrat, I can rejoice at this act of consummate folly. As a patriot, I could weep for the stained honor of my country.

A Prominent Lawyer Dies.

Mr. J. O. Ewing, who was, for many years a prominent lawyer of Burkesville, died last Saturday afternoon, a victim of paralysis. He had suffered three strokes, the last one a few days before the end.

He was a man of high character and Cumberland county has sustained an irreparable loss. He leaves a wife and one daughter to our knowledge. His wife was a daughter of the late Judge M. O. Allen, who was well-known over the State.

The deceased was about fifty years old, and no young man in this part of the State started with brighter prospect.

The funeral services were held Sunday.

May God comfort the widow and daughter in this the greatest hour of their affliction, is the wish of the writer, who knew the deceased, and who admired him for his many excellent qualities.

A Distinguished Soldier.

The importance of the interview with Col. H. C. Whitehead which appears on another page of this issue, prompts some notations about the Colonel, himself.

An officer of wide and varied experience, Colonel Whitehead has specialized on the subjects of cavalry remounts, and the care of the marching soldier's feet; and he was for two years before the last war the accredited representative of the United States Government, attached to the German Staff, in order that our army might profit by the investigations or so eminent an authority on these two lines of research.

It is perhaps not generally known even to Kentuckians that Colonel Whitehead's office in Lexington is the headquarters, or main office, of the United States Army Remount Association is apparent. Kentucky, the home of the thoroughbred, is the logical headquarters of a national organization devoted to the improvement of the country's supply of horses by means of the introduction of the potent thoroughbred strain.

OIL AND GAS

Adair, Cumberland, Russell
Counties, Kentucky.

BY E. T. KEMPER.

OIL STRUCK IN COLUMBIA.

A good flow of high-grade oil has been found in a fifty foot water well at the plant of the Myers Milling Company, located within the corporate limits of Columbia. The "strike" has created so much excitement that nearly all properties are being leased, and money will be put up by local parties to begin drilling operations without delay.

Mr. W. K. White, Bowling Green, Ohio, one of the large and prominent operators of the country, was here the latter part of the past week arranging for development work he and his associates expect to begin in this territory at once. Mr. White has already contracted for the drilling of two wells in the Brush Creek field, and machinery is now being placed on the ground.

Mr. Elmo Pearce has been spending several days in Cumberland county lately, where he has some choice oil and gas holdings.

A party of Oklahoma operators are expected to arrive here any day to begin extensive drilling operations in the Cumberland territory, and the work will be in full swing as soon as possible after their arrival.

Messrs. C. T. Williams and H. J. Porter, Winchester, Ky., representatives of the Associated Producers Company, were here the latter part of the past week on their way to the southern part of Cumberland where the company is actively engaged in drilling operations.

A field representative of some of the companies operating in Green county, was here on Thursday last for the purpose of securing certain information regarding Adair county territory. The information he obtained was of such an encouraging nature that he expects to return here soon for the purpose of continuing his investigations.

Mr. O. C. Fink, the well-known local contractor, was on a short business trip to Ft. Wayne, Ind. during the past week.

The Southern Oil & Refining Company, Denver, Colorado, has had as aids from the very inception of its undertakings Messrs. Richardson & Goff, of Columbia, well posted, capable and reliable business men who are well up on all matters pertaining to location and development of territory and in the marketing of product. These men are the local representatives of the Company, and they are doing everything in their power to make the business a success. The Company is destined to be a success as its present status as a producing and progressive Company reveals. Its holdings comprise well selected leases in Adair county, Ky., of something over 1,300 acres, and a very valuable lease of some 50 acres located in the famous Brush Creek field, near Bakerton, in Cumberland county, Ky. The eight wells so far undertaken by the Company have proven the wisdom of selection, the knowledge of operative process, and the fact of oil in rich production as the outcome. It is a shipping Company with ample resources to proceed, and without hesitation, to greater achievement. Its president, Dr. Frank D. Hines, of Denver, has made three trips to Kentucky for the purpose of getting in close touch with the situation, and he says, after the fullest investigation of the fields, there is nothing to expect but riches as the result of the use of money and brains, coupled with the experience of the Company's Columbia representatives and the sound policy of the officials at Denver. There does not seem to be anything in the way of The Southern Oil & Refining Company cutting an extensive figure in the oil development of Adair and Cumberland counties and of placing these counties well up in the list of oil fields of the State.

Another cut in the prices of the different grades of crude oil on Wednesday last came as a great surprise to operators and others interested. Somerset Light, the grade produced in this territory, is now quoted at $1.80 per barrel, which is quite a reduction from the price $4.50 prevailing five months ago.

Additional reports received from the big gusher on Sulphur Creek, Cumberland county, reported in these columns last week, indicate that first reports concerning the well were not overdrawn. It is simply a wonder, and the oil produced is of a superior quality, being of a light or amber color and testing 44 gravity. Excitement over it is still at a high pitch, and visitors are numerous.

Information is just at hand that certain capitalists in Jacksonville, Florida, who have large lease holdings in the Knifley section of Adair, will begin an active drilling campaign there within the next few weeks, and that several wells will be put down in that locality. This should prove a satisfactory and profitable venture, owing to the fact that oil was found there many years ago.

Mr. A. Geary, a prominent operator from Lexington, Ky., accompanied by Mr. H. R. Levick, Jr., was here Thursday night en route to the Cumberland county fields, making the trip in a big private car.

Certain eastern operators who visited this section for the first time recently, were so favorably impressed with what they saw and learned of the territory that they are making diligent inquiry as to the securing of acreage, and they are contemplating the beginning of development work here soon.

For the past ten or twelve years, two-thirds of the world's petroleum has come from the United States. And when the world's supply is exhausted and goes back to work, petroleum will again be called upon to lubricate and drive the machinery of industry. America furnishes 75 per cent of the world's lubricating oil. This country has always righted itself, and it will again. The petroleum industry is greater than anything that can happen to it.

According to the Wall Street Journal consumption of crude oil in this country increased about twelve per cent over the consumption for the same period of 1920. Crude consumption for the first three months of this year amounted to 135,973,226 barrels, or an increase in domestic consumption over the first three months of 1920 of 14,961,370 barrels. In addition to this we had to import during the same period 30,892,202 barrels, or 26 per cent over the corresponding period in 1920. Mr. "Calamity Howler" will you please step to the rear and find a seat?

Yes, there are times when some people make money out of the oil business. Read the following from Desdemona, Texas appearing in the Western Oil Derrick recently: "Tom Dees, a banker in Texas, organized a little syndicate and bought leases in Comanche county miles from drilling operations. Then came the big strike at Desdemona. They sold their leases for millions, paid more than $13,000 for every $100 originally invested, and never drilled a well or produced a barrel of oil."

Less than a year ago Bakerton, Cumberland county, Ky., could be located only by reference to the U. S. post-office guide or some enlarged map of the State. But no such conditions exist today. Cumberland River steamers never make a trip nowadays, either up or down the river, without carrying passengers and freight for Bakerton, and strangers from all sections of the country are constantly arriving by all manner of conveyances. An old-fashioned Kentucky welcome awaits all comers, and they are fed and lodged in a way to satisfy the most exacting. What is back of all this? The great Brush Creek oil field located just across the Cumberland. Drilling rigs galore are pounding away day and night, tapping mother earth for the "liquid gold," great steel tanks dot the hills on every side, and pumps are running overtime. The quality of oil found here is of a superior grade, being nearly the equal of that produced in the Pennsylvania fields, and it commands a price next to the product of the Keystone state. Many operators and field men from a distance are already at Brush Creek, and others are either on the way there or else expect to come in the near future. The present outlook is very encouraging for some great strikes to be made there and those who develop the territory will surely be well paid for their work. Oil was found in paying quantities in that locality more than fifty years ago, the greatest strike being the "Old English Well" which is reliably reported to have produced as much as 1,200 barrels daily. This well was located on the north side of the river just above Bakerton and across the river from the Brush Creek field.

Sheep Growers, Wake Up.

Kentucky farmers are asleep to the advantages of raising sheep both in a financial way and as a help to the farming land itself according to Prof. Richard C. Miller. Sheep Extension Specialist of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture in an address for the Louisville Live Stock Exchange in connection with the purebred livestock campaign being conducted by the Exchange and the Kentucky Purebred Livestock Association.

Emphasis on the possibilities of sheep raising developed coincidentally with Prof. Miller's talk when the price of lamb jumped 50c per hundred at the Bourbon Stock yards with a growing demand from the eastern consumers and a slow movement of lambs to the market.

Prof. Miller in his talk declared that the use of grade and scrub rams at the head of 85 per cent of the flocks of the State meant a loss annually of $2,000,000 to the industry. A complete survey of the State by Prof. Miller shows that out of more than 1,000,000 sheep in the State fewer than 7,000 are registered purebred.

Reluctance of the farmer to invest $40 to $50 for a registered ram is blamed for this situation, the price of his lack of vision being inferior animals with an invariable loss. Tendency of the farmer to rush into the sheep industry when prices are high and then to pull out rush into the sheep industry when prices are high and then to pull out when there is a slump also for the variable size and quality of flocks.

Prof. Miller's address follows: Two years ago Kentucky farmers were buying sheep at fancy prices, paying fifteen to twenty and even twenty-five dollars in some cases for ordinary breeding ewes. Today these same farmers are sacrificing their flocks at less than one-half what they paid for them. I am not surprised at this attitude on the part of Kentucky farmer, because experience has shown that he goes into the livestock business when prices are high then gets discouraged and goes out when prices slump.

In my opinion there was never a better time than now for a farmer to start with a flock of sheep, in fact, I believe the future for the sheep industry in this country is brighter today than ever before in the history of the nation. I will admit that the woolen markets are less congested but when we consider the good price for lambs and the fact that last year in competition with frozen mutton from Australia, equal in amount to one-third what we normally produce, the lamb markets held up better than any other livestock market. I can readily see that the demand for lambs in this country is greater than home production.

The flocks of the country, especially in the Western States have been greatly decimated during the past year. This coupled with the fact that frozen mutton from Australia is cut off thru a protective tariff makes greater demand for lambs from the corn belt states. As to the woolen market, it may be some time before we can expect a return to normal conditions, however, with the American mills in normal times consuming twice as much wool as we produce in this country, there is no reason why the woolen market should not get back to normal.

Sheep, not as a speculative, but as a producing factor in farm operation, have a splendid record where they have been permitted to remain on one farm over a long enough period to make a record. A flock of ewes maintained year after year, can be carried at a low cost and will bring in a profit on the money invested greater than that from any other phase of farming. Cost Account Records in the Corn Belt States show this to be so.

I have recently completed a sheep survey of the State. This survey brought to light some interesting as well as amazing facts, a few of which may be summarized as follows:

Farmers in Kentucky as a whole, have never seriously considered sheep raising as a part of their farm operations, consequently most flocks have been neglected. Yet farmers throughout the state have assured me that they have made more clear profit, from sheep than anything else on the farm.

A little more than four-fifths of the flocks of the State are headed by grade or scrub rams. This is not only the case in Eastern and Western Kentucky but in the Blue Grass section as well. I recently saw a Southdown Mountain Cross Ram at the head of a Blue Grass flock of 80 high grade Hampshires.

Out of a little more than one million sheep in the State, less than seven thousand are registered pure breeds. At the very lowest estimate, the use of grade and scrub rams at the head of 85 per cent of the flocks of the State, means an annual loss to the industry of two million dollars. The speaker knows of a bunch of 70 yearling rams from a scrub flock in a progressive agricultural section of Kentucky that will be sold for breeding purposes this fall. These rams were left over after the buyers had picked the best lambs for the market last year. A prominent sheep man told me in this section of the state that he believes the farmers will buy these scrub rams to head their flocks rather than pay $40 or $50 for a registered pure bred.

Such an indiscriminate system of selecting breeding rams will certainly not help in building up the sheep industry of the State. Every breeder should use his influence to guard against the use of scrub rams.

The survey also shows that sheep are most numerous in the Blue Grass section of the state. It is customary for the ordinary farmer to think that sheep would not be profitable on high class land, yet Bourbon, Harrison, Owen, Fayette and Clark counties in the heart of the Blue Grass are the leading sheep counties in the State. Blue Grass Farmers find that sheep are almost a necessity in any system of general farming in that section. One man told me "I consider my farm flock of ewes absolutely indispensable to successful farming; they help in getting a new stand of grass and keeping down the weeds in the blue grass. I consider this worth far more than the feed I give them when the ground is covered with snow. I consider the prices received for lambs and wool as clear profit.

While this would not be called a typical case, it is an indication as to what results can be obtained from keeping sheep on Kentucky farms. A very small percentage of the farmers in Kentucky have sheep, and the parts of the state that need them most have the least. Personally I cannot see how any Kentucky farmer can expect to realize the greatest income from his farm operations without maintaining a farm flock. These can be kept at little cost, they will keep down the weeds and utilize rough feeds that would otherwise go to waste. I would advise the farmer starting with a flock, to buy anywhere from 15 to 25 good ewes and breed these to a pure bred mutton ram of quality. Either a good Hampshire or Southdown grade or Western or Mountain ewes if they can be had, would be suitable for starting a flock. These should be bred to a good pure bred mutton ram such as Hampshire or Southdown.

I find that many Western Kentucky farmers have long wool grades. As a rule these sheep are not as profitable as they should be. I suggest that the farmer who has long wool grades and wishes to breed up the flock, buy a Rambouillet Ram. This would give him a cross for his foundation flock, then he could in turn breed these Rambouillet grades to a good pure bred mutton ram which would produce good market lambs.

After having been in touch with the sheep industry throughout the United States and Canada, where I had an opportunity to get first hand information, I do not hesitate to say and I believe that Kentucky offers greater opportunities for profitable farm flocks than any other state in this country. Instead of a million sheep we should have three million and instead of the industry being confined to the blue grass section it should be state wide.

The Breeder sale at the Bourbon Stock Yards Aug. 11th will give the sheep men an opportunity to get some good rams.

Detective Lawmaking.

The time devoted to the consideration of any measure adopted by the Legislature costs a good deal of money; also it causes delay in the presentation and discussion of other measures. Wherefore, it is important always that when a law is put through it should be accurately phrased enough to avoid nullification on such grounds as make the anti-pistol-toting amendment void. A little more care in the preparation of the measure would have developed the need for quoting the measure to be amended; a mere reference is plainly barred by the organic law. Yet the Legislature bungled the act in that way and it is dead by court decree.

Probably the provision that persons convicted of carrying concealed weapons shall be disfranchised for two years is salutary. Certainly it would have the effect of deterring the better class of citizens from indulging in a practice which has cost the State so much in blood and reputation and has caused the lawmakers to go so far in their attempt to discourage secret armament.

Frequently the assertion has been made that the law against carrying concealed weapons has disarmed the law-abiding and has given to the thug a greater advantage in deadly encounter. But however true this may be in theory, the fact remains that the agitation for deterrent laws has aroused public sentiment against wearing weapons concealed. Time was, and not so far back, when good citizens made weapon toting fashionable. Mere boys thought it manly to wear a revolver on the hip; striplings bought pearl-handled pistols, and business men slipped forty-fives into holsters under their armpits.

Now it is hardly respectable to be armed. The gun-toters risk the charge of cowardice; the concealed weapon is considered the sign of the sneak. The day may come when pistols and brass knuckles will rank equally as the accoutrements of the fit subject for the rogues' gallery.

Meanwhile the slow progress of the law will have to be gone through with again. If the law is properly written, the chances are that it will stand the test. Otherwise, more time and money will be wasted and taxpayers will have to foot the bill as well as lose the benefit of the legislation.—Louisville Times.

Have you Forgotten.

"Help the Salvation Army lassies put the 'dough' in doughnuts."

Altho the armistice was signed long ago, no service man, nor the parents or relatives of service men have forgotten what the lassies did "over there" when the Yanks most needed care. The Salvation Army made a name for itself; it stood the acid test. Now it is asking for funds that it may continue standing this test. While doughnuts are no longer necessary to keep up the morale of our fighters, everything that the doughnuts stood for during the war represents the general work of the Salvation Army here during peace time. Through contributing to the Salvation Army cause you are assisting the lassies and those the lassies represent to keep up the good work of helping "down and out" mankind. A dollar may not mean much to you but it means a great deal to a broken-down man or woman, a hungry or ill-clothed child or a poor invalid in time of dire need. It took "dough" to make doughnuts during the war; it will take "dough" to keep up the morale of the needy during peace time. You have the "dough," the Salvation Army needs it badly. Are you going to fail the lassies in time of need after what they have done for you and yours? Not as long as doughnuts are made of "dough".—Kentucky Post.

THE "OLD RELIABLE" THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT

White Haired Alabama Lady Says She Has Seen Medicines Come and Go But The "Old Reliable" Thedford's Black-Draught Came and Stayed.

Dutton, Ala.—In recommending Thedford's Black-Draught to her friends and neighbors here, Mrs. T. F. Parks, a well-known Jackson County lady, said: "I am getting up in years; my head is pretty white. I have seen medicines and remedies come and go but the old reliable came and stayed. I am talking of Black-Draught, a liver medicine we have used for years—one that can be depended upon and one that will do the work."

"Black-Draught will relieve indigestion and constipation if taken right, and I know for I tried it. It is the best thing I have ever found for the full, comfortable feeling after meals. Sour stomach and sick headache can be relieved by taking Black-Draught. It aids digestion, also assists the liver in throwing off impurities. I am glad to recommend Black-Draught, and do, to my friends and neighbors."

Thedford's Black-Draught is a standard household remedy with a record of over seventy years of successful use. Every one occasionally needs something to help cleanse the system of impurities. Try Black-Draught. Insist upon Thedford's, the genuine.

England and Japan.

The London Spectator, which has traditionally been a friend of America, warns the British government against any alliance with Japan that could possibly be used to put Great Britain on Japan's side in the event of a disagreement between Japan and the United States. Such a step, the Spectator says, would inevitably split the British empire, for Canada and Australia will surely be with the United States if trouble arises between this country and Japan.

The Anglo-Japanese treaty expired several months ago, and evidently there has been a hitch in framing a new treaty. The new treaty must, under the obligations of both Great Britain and Japan to the League of Nations, be submitted to that body before it becomes effective. Thus, through the League of Nations, the United States has a sure way of ascertaining exactly what the agreement is.

There is hardly a possibility that Great Britain will make an agreement with Japan of the kind condemned by the Spectator. Great Britain wishes to be on friendly terms with Japan in the Far East, but it is much more important to her interests to have America as a friend. And the great mass of the British know very little, and care very little, about Japan. When the first Anglo-Japanese treaty was made, the United States was dwelling apart in national isolation, but much water has since passed under the bridge. The United States now everywhere admitted to be the strongest nation in the world. Even if her colonies did not object, Great Britain would not consider a Japanese treaty that might antagonize America.

The danger of trouble between American and Japan is, it may be said, rapidly diminishing.—Louisville Post.

Candle All Eggs.

Attention was called by the state board of health in an announcement issued here today to the fact that the period of the year when eggs must be candled begins on May 15 and does not end until January 15. Miss Sarah Vance, director of the board's bureau of pure foods and drugs, issued the announcement. In it she stated her bureau intends to take a more active part than ever before in seeing that all violations of the statute will be prosecuted.

The regulation provides, according to Miss Vance, that before any country storekeeper can buy eggs from a farmer they must be candled. Similarly, where poultry and egg dealers buy eggs likewise must be candled.

Selling of eggs by hucksters before they have been candled is prohibited. When eggs are packed in cases, on the top of each case must be placed a certificate of the form prescribed by the state board of health, that the eggs have been candled.—Ex.

Woman Grow Taller.

American young women average more than an inch taller than women of the same age 30 years ago. This is discovered by Dr. Celia Duell Mosher, medical adviser at Leland Stanford University, who has checked up the measurements of girl students for three decades back.

Women also are getting heavier, says Dr. Mosher. She attributes the change in female physique to more sensible clothing and exercise, particularly participation in sports.

London scientists say that English women in the last half century increased their height an average of 2 inches, and that their shoulders have begun to broaden.

On the other hand, scientists, English men, say that a few operations will reduce in stature as a result of heavy labor among the better physical types.

An Interview With Col. H. C. Whitehead, Remount Service, U. S. A.

"Despite our present-day motor-driven vehicles and trench warfare, the ratio of horses to men for the Allies was as one to four against one horse to each 3½ men during our own Civil War. And had the former conflict lasted a few weeks longer, the shortage of horses would have been woefully acute. The broad plans of the American Remount Association for selective breeding are, therefore, an important link in our chain of national defense."

The above is a statement by Col. H. C. Whitehead, of the U. S. Remount Purchasing and Breeding Service.

Seen at his headquarters in Lexington, Colonel Whitehead vouchsafed other highly enlightening information, not only about the breeding work in progress, but also of the utility of the thoroughbred horse; the intimate relation between racing and the maintenance and improvement of the standard of blood lines and the importance of the thoroughbred to the State of Kentucky in particular.

"The immediate concern of the American Remount Association," he said, "is to save riding and driving horses, and the high-class race horse from extinction. We want to produce a truly American type of cavalry horse—a horse with breeding and quality, as well as bone and substance—a weight-carrier and the best general purpose horse known—a horse that will weigh from 1,000 to 1,250 pounds, standing from 15 hands, 1 inch, to 16 hands, tight made, with good gait and action—a walk, trot, gallop horse that can carry weight and follow the hounds across country—that the family can drive to church, and also one that can hold his own at hard work on the farm—a horse that can be used to advantage and economically any, and everywhere, except in heavy draft."

"This type of horse has splendid looks, quality, action, and vigor—a wonderful, all-purpose horse for the farmer and one that can be kept at a minimum cost.

"Almost every commercial and military use will be met by the progeny of this breeding plan, dependent primarily upon the size, quality and blood lines of the mares used in breeding.

"Among the stallions to be placed throughout the United States this spring will be over one hundred head of high-class registered thoroughbreds—big horses, with plenty of body, bone and substance. These stallions, placed in the stud through Government agencies, will be available to farmers and breeders at a minimum fee. The Government does not expect to make money, but to make it possible and feasible for the farmer and breeder to get the service of a high-class, approved stallion for their good mares; the object being to produce animals of real value and use that will earn their keep—bring a handsome profit when mature. We expect the progeny at maturity to make general-purpose horses—cavalry horses, riding and driving horses, show horses, hunters, race horses, polo ponies, depending largely upon the mares selected for breeding and the care selected in rearing colts. They will belong to the breeder—the Government will have no strings on them. The owner will be privileged to sell them to whomsoever he pleases at any time. They will be horses admirably adapted to work in both peace and war times.

"But the Government will depend upon them for its supply; and the importance of the horse to the modern army is to be fully realized by the comparison of figures already cited pertaining to the use of the horse in the last great war with those of his use during the Civil War.

"As regards thoroughbred horses racing, every practical horseman knows that it is, first and foremost, vitally necessary in order to test the quality of individual horses—it is the final acid test that goes to measure their value for breeding purposes, and is thus decisively instrumental in the work of preserving and improving the thoroughbred horse as the race upon which depends the preservation and improvement of all our other kinds of horses and mule mares.

"Meanwhile, the evolution of thoroughbred horse racing has given the world a great out-of-door sport—one that the world truly enjoys, if the attendance at our metropolitan race courses may be taken as evidence of popularity, and which, wherever properly conducted, is assuredly healthful and innocuous, insofar, at least, as concerns its effects on the great majority of normal-minded citizens.

"The State of Kentucky is immensely the richer for her industry of breeding thoroughbred horses and its concomitant seasons of racing. Millions and millions of dollars are invested in property throughout the state as a result—nor is this taxable wealth confined to the holdings of millionaire enthusiasts whose establishments are located in the Bluegrass District, by any means.

"Many a Kentucky farmer is also a breeder of the thoroughbred—and often the mule or colt or filly nets him more than the products of a season's work on the farm.

"Undoubtedly the sport of racing thoroughbred horses is a tremendous business asset to the state. For a such as, I daresay, the Kentucky Jockey Club readily can adduce in this connection very well might around Kentuckians who have never considered the subject in its substantial and material aspects."

Our community will be given an opportunity to see Loy Bros. picture show to-night (Tuesday) By the way a good picture show is very much enjoyed. If it teaches a good, moral lesson the ones who operate the machine should be patronized. On the other hand if the pictures are ugly and indecent, they should not be tolerated.

Mr. John Bryant, who is a nat-tive, does not leave his home any more. He is now about eighty seven years old. When a young man he was the best rifle shot in Adair county. He used a Settles rifle, and it was not uncommon for him to kill two dozen squirrels in a few hours any day he went out. He shot them in the head and would not take aim unless he could get a bead at the head. He is almost totally blind at this time. He served in the Federal army during the civil war. He has voted the Democratic ticket ever since he has reached his majority.
